

Pages

- Main Page <
- Front Page <
- Metro <
- International <
- Sports <
- National <
- Editorial <
- Op-Ed <
- Home <
- Timeout <
- Letters <

Others

- Archive <
- Launch Supplement <
- Special Supplements <

NEW AGE Business

Web site for online trading launched

Business Desk

American E-Commerce Centre, an associate of Buyerexpo USA Inc, has launched a web site with a view to providing a platform for importers, exporters, manufacturers, traders, service providers, distributors, wholesalers, retailers and governmental agencies to find trade opportunities and promote their products and services online.

The web site — buyerXpo.com — will help find buyers for international sellers, as well as find sellers for international buyers through match making trade alert service, a news release said.

American E-commerce Centre executive secretary Khaleda Sultana Tuheen introduced the web site at a news conference in a city hotel on Saturday.

BuyerXpo's vision is to globalise the world's businesses under one roof or platform so that each and every business of each town, city, state, country and continent can be registered or listed on BuyerXpo.com, she said.

'Though this website (buyerXpo.com) is open for the world, we believe the greater Asian countries specially Bangladesh, India, China's seller will get huge facility from this unique site BuyerXpo.com as because it has a country office situated in Dhaka which is controlled from the USA,' Khaleda added.

Trade through Bhomra land port resumes